OTIS W. SNYDER,

Manufacturing Jeweler,

LEXINGTON, KY.

Mr. Sigmund Luscher has commenced manufacturing ice for sale with his machine at the Brewery.

Wagons, buggies, swings, and other nice toys at the 5 to 99 cent store.

Mr. Stephen Black, of this county, shipped on Monday, to Mr. W. T. Mason, of Rockport, Indiana, four fine young Cots-wold bucks, one of which weighed 225 pounds.

Mrs. Elizabeth Macklin, while walking in the yard of her residence, near Wood-lake, Monday, slipped and fell to the ground, breaking her right arm between the wrist and elbow.

Mr. J. T. Pendleton, grocer of Belle point, and Mr. Logan McKee, dry goods merchant, of this city, have both made assignments for the benefit of their creditors. Mr. John B. Lindsey is the assignee of the former and Hon. Ira Julian of the latter.

Mrs. Ann E. Stedman, wife of Mr. A. T. Stedman, died Sunday night at the family residence at the Forks of Elkhorn, after an illness of one year's duration. The funeral took place Tuesday morning. The remains being interred in the Cemetery at this place.

From the Courier Journal, Aug. 19.

As evidence of the activity of business in our city and its encouraging increase may be cited that last week Messrs. W. B. Belknap & Co. alone received (besides a full quota of regular assorted hardware) five car-loads Burden's horse-hoes, two car-loads barbed fence wire, two car-loads steel, one car-load manilla and sisal rope and three car-loads of wagon woodwork. Over fifty tons of iron were stored in one day.

This large and pioneer house in the iron and hardware trade is represented in Kentucky by M. P. Gray, formerly of Frankfort.

Tin-ware, willow-ware wooden-ware and everything else at the 5 to 99 cent store.

Switzer.

Mr. B. D. Hend, of Monterey, spent several day with us last week.

Misses Laura and Katie Hockersmith, are visiting Miss Laura Jones.

The young ladies who were to visit some of the upper counties were disappointed, owing to the illness of their grandmother.

Misses Bettie and Sallie Macklin left last Wednesday morning for Fredonia, N. Y., where they will remain perhaps all the summer.

Mr. Wm. Pryor, of Bourbon, paid us a visit last week, but to the sorrow of some of the young ladies, his stay was only a brief one.

The young ladies of this neighborhood have organized a social visiting association. They meet with some one of the members every Friday. A party of young men were invited to dine with them last Friday and accepted the invitation, and of course had a jolly good time.

ONCE A WEEK.

The grandest political gathering since the famous contest between Breckinridge and Letcher is expected at Peak's Mill on the 8th day of September next, when the Hon. Wm. C. Owens and J. C. S. Blackburn will debate the question who ought the people to send to Congress from this district. Large delegations from the surrounding counties of Owen, Scott and Woodford will be in attendance. An abundance of burgoo and roast meats will be provided by Messrs. Squire Carr, Milton Wigginton, Innis Morris and Cyrus Calvert, to feed a multitude. A good band of music and a dancing floor will be provided for the young folks. Good order will be maintained and a splendid time guaranteed to all who may attend. Everybody is invited.

Edgewood.

Some five or six years ago Col. John L. Scott built his country residence on the Versailles pike, about half a mile east of Frankfort, on a lot of 25 or 30 acres of ground fronting nearly 1,000 feet on the pike, and planted the entire front in forest and other trees, and called the place Edgewood, because it was at the edge of the city as well as at the edge of the woods. The tendency to improve on this has been visible for a number of years.

Stewart has recently purchased the remainder of the John O'Connell lot, and we learn will soon build on it. There are now three new houses going up immediately opposite the residence of Col. Scott and several others a little further out the pike. In fact at the present rate it will be but a few years until there will be a continuous town on this road from the city limits to the second toll-gate, a distance of over two miles. Small farms and building lots seem to be in demand to an extent heretofore unknown, and those who desire to build residences on this road would do well to secure desirable locations while they are to be had at reasonable prices. This road is the drive to Midway, Versailles, Georgetown and Lexington, and it is safe to say that more buggies, carriages and wagons pass over it than over any other road leading to Frankfort.

Edgewood bids fair at no distant day to be one of the nicest drives and at the same time one of the most interesting little suburban towns surrounding the Capital City. Already we hear a sidewalk talked of out past the Institute as far as General Dudley's avenue gate.

Mrs. Rachael Martin, of Troy, New York, writes: "I have been a widow eighteen years. From overwork and the cares of a large family, I have for many years been afflicted from rheumatic pains and severe indigestion. Oils and liniments only eased my pain. I took many remedies internally, hoping to find permanent relief. My next door neighbor, Mrs. Perry, told me to try Brown's Iron Bitters, and that it had cured her of dyspepsia, irregularities, etc. I did so, and have not suffered an ache or pain since using the first bottle, nor has indigestion troubled me.

WEEKLY ROUNDABOUT.

Published at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second class mail, by George A. Lewis.

GEORGE A. LEWIS,

Editor and Publisher.

FRANKFORT, KY., AUGUST 17, 1882.

A blue pencil mark (X) on your paper indicates that your subscription has not been paid for some time, and you are requested to pay it at once.

We are informed that during the joint discussion of Hon. J. C. Blackburn and W. C. Owens at Lexington a few days since, the crowd called to Blackburn, "Give him the—l, Joe, the Capital removal!" and Owens, a gentleman, being in command of the command to the best of his ability. Now we are not a politician, or publishing a political paper, but we are for Frankfort against the world, and for those who stand by her. Hon. W. C. Owens did gallant service for our city in the last Legislature, when the Mulligan Guards were besieging the capitol and came so near carrying it off to Lexington, and every man in Frankfort should stand by him now. He is the equal in every way of his opponent, will make a good Representative if elected, so let him have the solid vote of Frankfort, if not of Franklin county. It may be said that Mr. Blackburn is equally as much for our city in getting the appropriation for the new court building passed, but Gen. Williams lays equal claim to that honor, and besides we have not gotten that yet. We have the capitol, and Mr. Owens stands by us manfully when we are struggling to keep it.

The appropriation for the Government building might be made out of the Clerk's office in the House of Representatives. Mr. Owens was for Frankfort at Frankfort for him. He does not seem to know that he needs you.

As Lexington is making Mr. Owens services in keeping the Capitol at Frankfort the issue in this race, let Frankfort prove herself true to her friends by accepting the gauge thus thrown down. Let it go out that Frankfort is never recreant to those who prove true to her. Every citizen of this town and county should manifest that much local pride and gratitude.

The Sandlottery will meet to-night. The use of turpentine has been prohibited by order of the Grand Sachem. An elegant chromo will be presented to a prominent member for his brilliant exploits at the last conclave.

Sneak thieves are giving the green grocers and fruit dealers a good deal of trouble. They are mostly small boys, and they travel in pairs. While one attracts the dealer's attention the other does the stealing.

No Cure For Consumption.

There is no cure for consumption, whether of the lungs, bowels or kidneys; yet the patient may be spared to long years of life, the fatal termination kept from approaching, if Brown's Iron Bitters are used. This medicine strengthens the weakened parts, restores to healthy action the impaired functions, and stops all decay and wasting-away of the organs affected. It is the best life-giving medicine ever invented, and thousands of living witnesses stand ready to affirm the truth of this assertion. A trial bottle will convince you of its merit.

The great "free scramble" for hats and caps will certainly take place in front of the White Hall Mammoth Clothing House this afternoon at 3 o'clock P.M., at which time Messrs. Crutcher & Starks desire to see their friends from the country as well as the city present. Two hundred hats and caps will certainly be given away, every one having a chance to get one.
